

Please forgive the warped humour here: it will be familiar to many of you, whatever your shared suffering: be it sharing the same slit-trench, trying to care for a loved one, grieving for someone recently lost, or fighting on with your own health battle, perhaps for the sake of loved ones.

I am regularly reminded, each day, of the value of sharing intimate details of one's health with trusted friends, if not the whole World. Openness rather than Secrecy can be a powerful tool, as I learnt in the 1970s within NATO . But this page is also not a lesson on security, for public, police and others. The Military, in all countries, know the basics - but it isn't easy !

It was also on Saturday 7th April that I received a posted letter from a dear old ex-army friend, who can easily be found on my Geocaching page. How can one respond to sad or worrying news from a friend ? Perhaps by sharing your own problems, or encouraging examples from other's experiences ? It is less than a year ago that my dear Father-in-Law Jack Ponsford passed away, in Frimley Park Hospital, aged near 98. He remained as "bright as a button" until his last day, reading the newspapers. I have almost countless A&E visits by Jack to Frimley Park, logged on a hidden page that I will now reveal here .

I've had the pleasure of Frimley Park A&E myself in recent years. Before this April 2018 visit, I had a recurring nose bleed in 2017. The nosebleeds first started on my birthday, at a garden open for the "Combat Stress" charity. There was some banter about the blood triggering PTS. The lovely Philipino guy at A&E cauterised my left nostril with the modern equivalent of a red hot poker. He reminded me of my old ex-Philipino Marine friend Rex, who assisted my dealing with that old "Manilla Scam" last year, and other things since. Let me plug in here an extract from last year's 2017 Christmas Newsletter below ...

Robin's 70th Birthday Party was in the Cordes Hall Sunninghill on 26th May, and was very shambolic due to his poor delegation of things - but he thoroughly enjoyed where he'd put effort in the weeks before it: contacting members of his massive extended Sharp family. Also seeing old friends again. Good that we did not have that police raid, half expected :-)

Pam Coughlan is a lady close to me, who could not make it up from Exeter to my party. However, we stay in touch by email and 'phone, and work behind the scenes with our www.NHSCare.info activity. Few know about it, but one new friend is set to receive £1.4 million from the Government, using the Law Firm that we gave legal advice to all those years ago. I am reminded of my dear ex-EASAMS friend Trevor Saunders and fond memories. On a much lighter note, a fraudster in Manilla made the mistake this year of trying to use that old scam of being stuck in a hotel without money to pay his bills and get a flight home. I had a conversation for about a week with them, not pretending that I knew it was a scam. He'd done me a favour by revealing that I had two new "clients" this year with exactly the same name and northern accents.

They were let in on my little joke that follows ... I contacted my banks, and an old overseas ex-marine chum. The fraudster must have been delighted on receiving a personal delivery of a pack of sandwiches, 2.55 GBP, and a note from Robin: "I hope this is enough for now" :-)

Click on pictures to expand or play - if you dare ! This first video is a warning about content. Medications hint at what my health problem was: On discharge, I was supplied with MOVICOL Laxative, at 1 to 2 sachets, up to 4 times a day. When I collected the prescription for GLYCERYL TINIRATE Rectal Ointment 1.5mg (2.5cm), our Sunninghill Pharmacy explained that the doctor's "BD" was Latin for Bi-Daily, or Twice Daily, rather than Before Defecation. The photo that June took with her smartphone, in A&E Room "Major 22", was useful to the doctor. This was clearer that that taken for me to see, during the 111 call a few hours earlier. Despite my concerns, I must confess being amused, when June said it looked like a finger pointing back out at her :-)

from Robin's "Missing" page, with minor redactions ...

I'm Robin Lovelock and this hidden "Missing" page may eventually become public, after the family of Mr Rizkallah Moussah have had time to grieve. Mr Mossah's body was found on the land

Robin Lovelock
www.GPSS.co.uk

Sunninghill Systems GPS Software, family news, and Robin's hobby projects :-)

NHS.Care.info - Robin's charity

"Your right to free nursing care from the NHS Under UK Law and the Coughlan Case"

22 Armitage Court, Sunninghill, Berks. SL5 9TA, UK
Tel. UK (+44) 01344 620775. Mobile 07736 353 404

Email: robin@gpss.co.uk

Retired ! Too busy for paid work !

Hence the need for a well coordinated ground search, with at least two or three volunteers looking in a particular patch.

The police arrived here soon after, to check my CCTV. Rizkallah had not visited our part of Armitage Court. They did not call at other houses.

That evening I spoke to volunteers from Berkshire Lowland Rescue (BLLR), gathered in our village - presumably waiting for search instructions.

I'll spare you the details (in other emails), but in brief, they have been "booted out" of the bunker below Easthampstead Park Bracknell, and there is a LOT of doubt in my mind on how well equipped, particularly regarding procedures and training, TVP are to lead such a search.

I've spoken to a lot of key people in the area, the most important of whom was the son, to whom I gave a 1:25k OS map. Others include volunteers and locals - including those with an Army background - not necessarily only British Army.

It's probably a coincidence, but, after a visit to Easthampstead Park, then Forestcare Bracknell, then taking a mobile 'phone call from BLLR, I walked into Ascot Police Station to find out who and where searches are coordinated. I eventually spoke to a policewoman, who said it was at Maidenhead TVP HQ, but had a much more informative two-way discussion with a local lady volunteer.

That's enough typing for now.

Hope to see you tomorrow.

Robin 1120 Monday 19 March 2018

www.gpss.co.uk <- use a big screen in landscape - see two bold paraphraps - take care not to get lost !

www.gpss.co.uk/easams.htm - linked from above under "EASAMS" - look for British Army guys.

www.gpss.co.uk/asontv.htm - "AsOnTV" page. e.g. Nick being arrested by Police in Sunninghill :-)

Relevant public links provided in response to emails. e.g. use of GPSS by police related to "The Troubles" and overseas military.

reply to an Armitage Court neighbour yesterday, Sunday 18/3/18 with news:

Search and rescue teams made the discovery of a body in the undergrowth of Armitage Court at around 5.30pm on March 17.

I've just got in after visiting places like

- a) [REDACTED] who witnessed the police forensic search yesterday,
  - b) both that patch and our Amenity Area - left completely insecure (e.g. no tape) should the autopsy require further search.
  - c) places like BEN, CostCutter, Hamzas, Raj Vooj, Comrades Club - where Lowland Rescue volunteers eventually told sad news.
- Next time, perhaps we can all do more to help organise (extra) search, rather than leave it to inexperienced and over-stretched TVP.

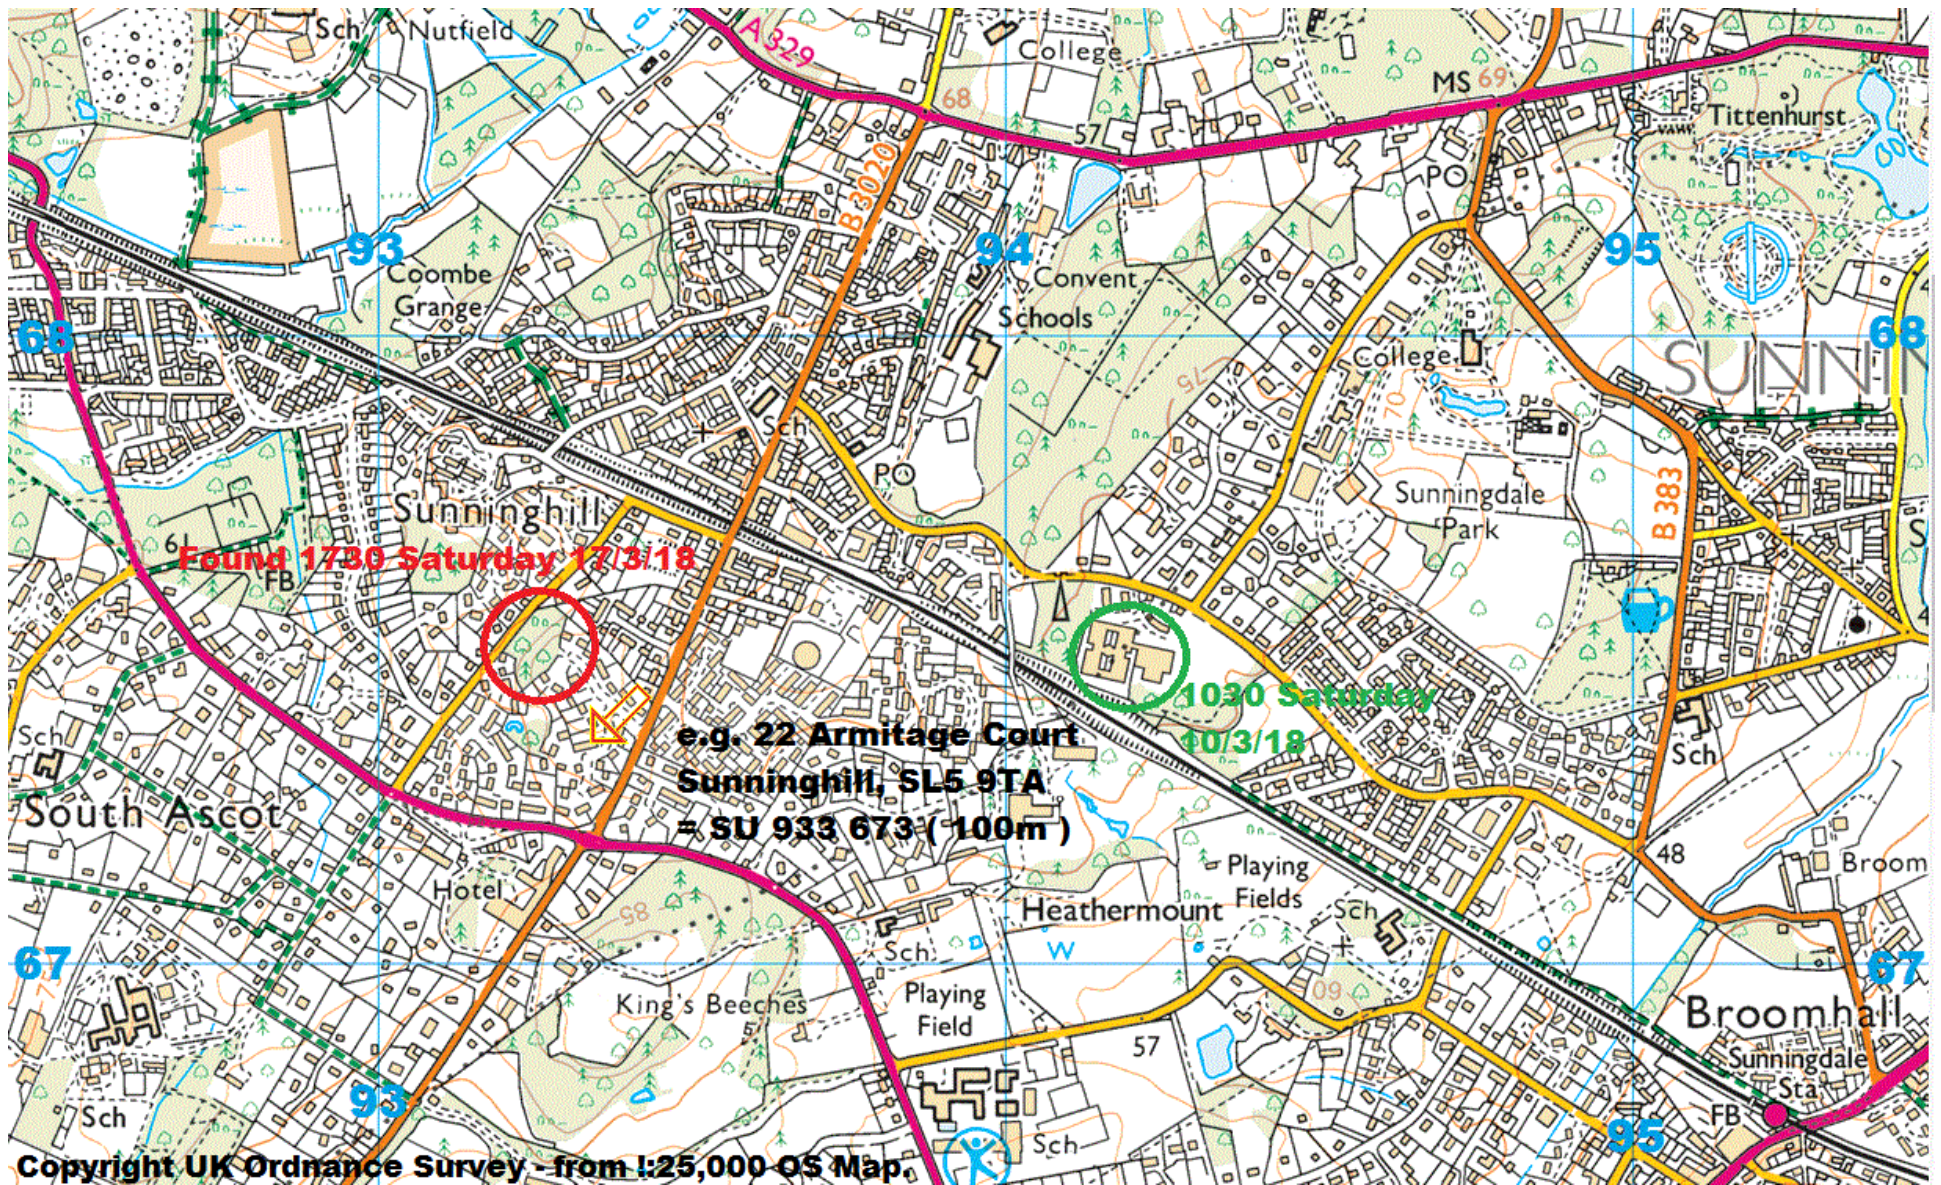

That's as much as I'll say in an email.

Robin

www.gpss.co.uk

York, to be seen on that page, the only guy to have a submarine on his (new) family crest. An army Major I recruited said what a shame the Police did not have an "Officer Class" rather than all coppers being "NCO"s. But you'd know better than me ;-) Good if we can chew the fat, face to face sometime.

Many Thanks

Robin

www.gpss.co.uk

1810z 19/3/18

p.s. BT Labs at Martlesham Heath were our first GPSS contract ~1992(?) Displayed OS 50k map and spoke in courtesy bus and customer centre linked by Cellnet. £5k for a weekend's work, getting the wife to record sounds needed. More if anyone is interested, which I very much doubt :-)

Superintendent Colin Hudson >>>>>>>> .... My mother was a nurse and my father was in the air force and I was raised largely in Lincolnshire, where there are several RAF bases. After graduation, I began my career as a research scientist, working on underwater acoustics. I then moved into the telecommunications industry, as an engineer, working on 2G,3G and 4G mobile phone technology research and development. I was lucky enough to progress well and ran large teams and departments, delivering software and systems solutions, to worldwide customers in the telecoms market. <<<<<<<<<<

Footnote on Thursday 22nd March 2018 ...

I only saw this today: the Facebook Page set up by Lisa Goodall-Clark, the day after he went missing.

I hope it is not removed or serious deletions made. e.g. it seems there may have been those crucial search maps.

Facebook seems MUCH faster and more efficient than relying on the Police 101 system, that I had reason to use yesterday. However, it is understandable that the police might be frightened of the community taking more control of things, for many reasons - both good and bad.

1520 22/3/2018 update: Luckily [REDACTED] & [REDACTED]* are not ex-directory, so I was able to 'phone then deliver a package including the link to this "Missing" page ( also to the lad next door who confirmed it was the correct house ), and a printed copy of our 2017 Newsletter.

Sometimes paper maps, notes, and photos, can't be beaten by computers*. Well Done in taking the initiative on printing those leaflets pushed through doors. Who else would have done it ? The Police ? The Council ? * The Military and good hospitals certainly don't rely on computers.

\ 1520 update:* At 1450 [REDACTED] phoned me asking what this page was all about, but that she'd not yet looked at it on her laptop. We spoke for a few minutes on the subject and mutual friends. She then 'phoned again at 1455, demanding that her name be removed and she would be complaining to the police. I said I would be happy to do so, but could she please send me an email to that effect. I had no problem with her calling the police, despite that not being required. I have redacted their names from this page, even though it remains public on Facebook and the BT Phone Book. I repeat my congratulations on the good work done by her friends.

Conclusions ... in due course.

Much of the above Footnote will obviously be removed, after a few important people have the chance to see it. It did show me the power of Social Media to "spread the word", including important advice to residents - like check their back gardens and sheds. Also, important initiatives such as printing and distributing leaflets: not everyone uses a computer, or even answers their doorbell !

I am familiar more than most with how technology like Pensioner GPS trackers can help. But remember: someone who is frightened of being found would probably remove his tracker !

My main interest, and that of some of my friends, including both inside and outside police forces and the military, are the details of how the search was organised, and how that compares with how it was done in earlier years, before Berkshire Lowland Search and Rescue were "booted out" of Easthamstead Park in Bracknell.

e.g. those "search maps", presumably based on Ordnance Survey 1:25k paper maps, with notes on what areas are searched, when, and by whom. Three people may be needed, rather than one, if searching for someone who may be trying to hide.

In recent years technology, previously only available to the military, can help. It was not that long ago, that radio amateurs helped, rather than simply using mobile 'phones.

I repeat my words from above: Sometimes paper maps, notes, and photos, can't be beaten by computers. Well Done in taking the initiative on printing those leaflets pushed through doors. Who else would have done it ? The Police ? The Council ?

The Military and good hospitals certainly don't rely only on computers !

Here are some useful tips, from the other side of the World: www.missingpersonsguide.com e.g. Ground Search Tips .

Following above words "...GPSS "Troubles" police contracts for UKAEA, Met, West Midlands, Ulster, Garda, TVP, etc. ", the 20th Anniversary of The Good Friday Agreement on 10th April 1998. This should not be confused with The Sunningdale Agreement signed in 1973, a few minutes walk away. That agreement collapsed in 1974.

It seems improvements may be appearing in the 901 service, and less need to follow links in Jeff Pick's, Neighbourhood Watch emails :-)

However, the main issues to be resolved are 1) Location for Berkshire Lowland Search and Rescue, and 2) How ground searches are managed in future.

More here in due course.

There have been 16 visits to this page counted by Web Counter. These visit counters are explained at the bottom of the Snoopy page.

Live Traffic Feed

Watch Live | Get FEEDJIT

-  United Kingdom arrived 0 secs ago.
-  Bristol, United Kingdom arrived 54 secs ago.
-  Bristol, United Kingdom arrived 2 mins ago.
-  United Kingdom arrived 7 mins ago.
-  Aldershot, United Kingdom arrived 2 hours 43 mins ago.
-  United Kingdom arrived 2 hours 45 mins ago.
-  Durham, United Kingdom arrived 3 hours 50 mins ago.
-  United Kingdom arrived 5 hours 13 mins ago.
-  United Kingdom arrived 5 hours 14 mins ago.
-  United Kingdom arrived 5 hours 20 mins ago.

0900z (Zulu) = 0900 GMT/UT/GPS Time = 10am +1 in UK BST (British Summer Time). San Francisco -8. New York -5. Berlin +1. Moscow +2. New Zealand +12.

© 1991-2018 Robin Lovelock, Sunninghill Systems. 22 Armitage Court, Sunninghill, Ascot, Berks SL5 9TA, United Kingdom.